MARTINIS – 67 CENTS. MEMORIES – PRICELESS.

Warwick Denver Hotel Invites You To “Lift Your Spirits” With Martinis at 1960s Prices This December

DENVER (November 30, 2009) -- When Denver’s famed Playboy Club opened on December 9, 1967 on the top floors of what is now Warwick Denver Hotel, it was the place to be if you wanted to find creative food, great drinks and the coolest crowd, all under the same luxurious roof. This December 2009, Denver residents will again find something extraordinary to enjoy at Warwick Denver Hotel. To pay homage to its past, the hotel is offering a classic martini for just 67 cents from December 1-December 30. So if holiday shopping is weighing heavy on your wallet, if you want to relax with friends or if you want to toast the achievements of 2009 – whatever your reason, enjoy an icy martini for 67 cents in the beautiful ambiance of Randolph’s Restaurant and Bar, located on the first floor of the hotel. (A second martini may be purchased for $3.) Choose a vodka or gin martini, shaken or stirred as you prefer. It’s an offer all of Denver can drink to!

Additionally this December, Warwick Denver will debut its new signature Denver Gold Rush Martini, which will be offered for $1.50 from December 1-December 30. This martini will be made with your choice of vodka or gin, accented with shimmering edible gold foil floating throughout the drink and topped with a ripe luscious bite of peach, bringing together two precious commodities for which Denver is well-known.
